

Advanced programming

Lab work one

Assume a mathematical expression is given as a sequence of characters. We know that:

- The sequence may include only digits, +, -, *, and / characters to represent operators
- The expression is a valid expression
- The expression ends with a ; character
- At most 4 operands are used in the expression
- All numbers are integers

Without using arrays, read the expression and evaluate it.